Prior employment drug and alcohol verification services now available.

ANCHORAGE, AK - WorkSafe Inc. (WSI) now offers immediate and accurate prior employment drug and alcohol verification checks for federally regulated companies.

The service provides clients with an employee's three year history of previous drug test violations and also verifies if employees received proper education and/ or treatment for any positive results.

"Federal regulations are complex and more often it has become burdensome for companies to keep up with compliance to know exactly what can be asked, how far back to research an applicant's history and what documentation is needed to support business hiring actions," says Steve Mihalik, WorkSafe General Manager. This new service is an efficient method of conducting sensitive checks that can save employers time and money.

The new service complies fully with all applicable federal and state laws, including the Fair Credit Reporting Act, FCRA State Analogues, driver privacy laws and employment law. The service is covered by professional liability insurance.

WorkSafe is the largest third-party drug program administrator in Alaska with more than 300 collection sites throughout the United States. Established in 1989 and employing Certified Substance Abuse Program Administrators, WorkSafe has helped more than 2,500 companies initiate and manage programs.
